Dear Governor Mabey:-

May I recall to you in September, last, you granted me an interview in connection with my brother Ernest's application for a parole, which application was there after favorably acted upon. Ernest now advises me that he contemplates a further application for a pardon and that the application may be heard during this month.

From his letters I gather that he has kept himself employed and is making progress in the way of re-establishing himself. Ernest is industrious, has capacity and is fundamentally sound. To be relieved of the burden involved in the sentence over him will, I am sure, give him new courage and added incentive to succeed in the right way. If the facts and circumstances warrant may I ask your friendly consideration of Ernest's petition?

I recall with much pleasure my visits to Salt Lake City and Utah. You have a wonderful state and an admirable citizenship, and for the disciple of Isaac Walton, a paradise. My way will again lead to Utah when outing time comes again, and I trust that I may again have the pleasure of meeting you. With sincere regards, may I remain,

Very respectfully yours,

John H. Wipperman
