

Enterprise, Utah, Aug. 20, 1923
Mr. Charles R. Mabey, Gov. of State of Utah.
Salt Lake City, Utah

Dear Governor.

David Hogge

As an old acquaintance, and knowing your desire to serve the people of Utah for the best, I take this liberty to write you in regard to David Hogge, sentenced to a term in the state penitentiary; but at present working on the State Road in Washington Co. He is applying for a termination of sentence in September 1923.

I desire to say to you and the Board of Pardon, that I believe if he is freed he will make good. He has a widowed mother for whom he was the only support, at present even her home is in danger of being taken from her since it is in a district that the City of Ogden is paving and she is unable to raise the tax. Mr. Hogge seems to be a well behaved and industrious young man. I believe he has sincerely repented of any breach he has made against the laws of the State of Utah. Hoping you will not think me out of place in taking this liberty, I beg to remain, Yours Respectfully

Arthur P. Jones
District Road Agent
