

Q Where were you driving the car?

A Just through the country, just driving for him, his own personal use.

Q Who was that?

A I don't know his last name-- Macaroni Pete-- he was a Greek. I don't know his name.

Q Mrs. Florence Traten, is that the lady's name?

A Traten.

Q When did you get acquainted with her?

A I had been in Tooele about two weeks when I got acquainted with her.

Q How did you get acquainted with her?

A Just she was passing by, and I think I said something to her, and she turned around and smiled, and I went on down the street with her.

Q Do you know how old she is?

A About twenty-eight or twenty-nine.

Q She is not a married woman, is she?

A She is divorced.

Q Did she have a home over there at Tooele?

A. Yes sir.

Q How long since you became acquainted with her?

A It has been about seven months; something like that, I guess.

Q Did you frequently visit her house?

A Well, she did not stay at the house; she stayed at the hotel; she worked at the hotel.

Q At the hotel?

A. Yes sir.

Q Well, these things that you are charged with breaking in and taking were in her house, were they not?

A Yes sir.

Q How did you find out they were there?
