

was taught to obey and respect the law. and was never into any trouble before, he was a good boy to obey his parents in every way. but it seems he got into bad company this particular time, and is suffering the consequence of some one else wrong doing.

He was sentenced to from 1 to ten years. and has now served about 9 months.

It was about a month after he was arested before we knew any thing about this trouble, it seems the officials did not instruct him to communicate with us in regard to bail. neither did we receive any notice from any officer of his arrest. it does seem to us that we should have been notified as he is &
