

I really do feel for them, for they must surely die more deaths than one through their smiting conscience. ~~and in so I shall~~ come back in full measure to them sooner or later. And Oh how glad I am for having good parents, and for being able to look at it in this way. But here is a very true saying which came to me in the right time (What is measured to your neighbor will be measured back to you) and when I stop and think I have seen this work out many times myself.

I have the only girl that I ever did care for and she is sure good to me. But Oh how I do wish I had taken some good advice and saved some money, for now things are going to be hard for us for a while. If I had only saved enough for a home I would be the happiest 'fella' in the world. But I love her with all I have and she has proven her love for me and that's all that counts after all.
How's Aunt Alice, fine I hope. Tell Elden I should like a letter from him once in a while. Will you send me Aunt L's add?
 Hoping to see you next summer, I am yours as Always, Lovingly — Elmer Calder.
