

kept his word, which I found he had, and ^{he} has paid back all he took from them and they are willing to see him have a chance now at making good in the world.

I personally believe he has had his lesson and as he has been confined for a year I think and reccomen that he be given a parol to try his luck at making good and proving to society that he has learned his lesson.

Very Respectfully
