Okey Winemiller, being first duly sworn, deposes and says: That for the purpose of obtaining a rehearing before the Board of Pardons on December 19th, 1924, the following allegations are true.

I am badly in need of an operation which is impractical for me to obtain here, but which I can obtain at home. That I now have sufficient money in the prison office to pay for my transportation home. That I now have served the minimum of my sentence. That because of no fault of mine these facts could not, or were not presented before the Board at its last meeting.
