

tion before, (last Spring as I remember) I told Attorney Harvey Cluff, I did not think a man of that kind would be adorable so soon, and with a little effort.

However at this season of "Good Cheer" and after having been humiliated as he has been, I feel that he already bears all the stigma and humiliation, that the offense could possibly heap upon him.
In point of dollars and cents he may not have found the "utmost farthing" for this inexcusable offense, nor could he do by spending many more years in prison, but from the viewpoint of having his life ruined I feel that he has about paid the price.

Not so much for Mr Ross himself, but for his wife and his family am I interested in seeing early leniency extended to him.
His family are the ones who will be called upon to do the real suffering from now on by his continued detention.
I appreciate the fact that it is a very delicate matter for you to determine and please citizens, but still confident that you
