and Prosecuting Attorney and told them the reason I had jumped my bond, and I also told them that as soon as I could get enough funds for a lawyer to defend me I would return and face my trial, I also wrote to the man who had signed my bond and explained to him the circumstances, and he wrote back and told me that he would wait and that when I had the money to return and everything would be alright. But it wasn't long before they caught me and after I was tried they sent me to the prison, where I am at the present time confined.

Hoping that the Board of Pardons may give my case due consideration, and thanking you for your trouble that I have put you to, I am,

Respectfully yours,
