

but it was pawned the next day.

Q What time of night was this?

A This was about between seven and eight o'clock, if I recall.

Q Did you leave the man there on the ground unconscious?

A Well, he was not unconscious. I don't know whether he was unconscious or not, because when Edwards hit the man I got away from him as quick as I could.

Q Did he strike him more than once?

A Yes sir; he hit him more than once.

Q What did you do?

A He said: "Did you hear me hit that son-of-a-bitch again?"
I said: "Edwards, you ought not to hit that man. You ought not to hit him in the first place that way." I tried to persuade him not to hit anyone, but he threatened me, and there was not anything I could do, the way I was afraid of him.

Q What money did you receive out of this?

A I received three dollars out of the money, which he said he would pay me back from the $6.76 that I loaned him.

MR. TOBIN:

Q So he really owes you money now?

A Yes sir; he owes me money now that I loaned him out of my pocket. My wife is sitting over there. She can testify to that. She remembers that I loaned him ^{the} money.

Q Did any one tell you that he had threatened you if you were sent out to the penitentiary?

A Yes sir; I have also heard, at least the day that he was leaving the jail over here, Mr. Teddy Stohls and Mr. Walsh heard him make the remarks, and they told me if I was sent
