

THE COURT: Just worked as a laborer?

THE DEFENDANT PRUFISTER: Yes sir.

THE COURT: So that what you have done was the same kind of work that you worked for Mr. Moran?

THE DEFENDANT PRUFISTER: Yes sir.

THE COURT: What was the trouble in your case? Did you have something to drink too?

THE DEFENDANT PRUFISTER: I suppose so.

THE COURT: Bob Evans, where do you live?

THE DEFENDANT EVANS: Spanish Fork my folks live.

THE COURT: Born there?

THE DEFENDANT EVANS: Yes.

THE COURT: What is your age?

THE DEFENDANT EVANS: Twenty-three.

THE COURT: You were in Salt Lake City at the time?

THE DEFENDANT EVANS: Yes sir.

THE COURT: Staying here?

THE DEFENDANT EVANS: Yes sir.

THE COURT: How long had you been up here?

THE DEFENDANT EVANS: Just got in the night before.

THE COURT: Have you ever lived in Salt Lake City?

THE DEFENDANT EVANS: Well, I have worked around here a little, but not much.

THE COURT: To what extent, or how much had you been in Salt Lake City before?

THE DEFENDANT EVANS: Oh, just two or three days at a time.
